

iSchool University Mall

Dear Students and Parents:

Henry Clay's University Mall is up and running and ready for student access. Jeff Jones and his wonderful technology staff at IAKSS have entered all of the college info that we retrieved from the participants at Central Kentucky College Night. What is awesome about this site is that it is interactive. Students and parents and counselors can contact college/university officials with their pertinent questions. Then the questions and answers will be posted for all to see.

Students, here are the quick instructions for accessing this resource:

- Log into Fayette's iSchool (<http://ischool.fcps.net>) with your district network username and password,
- Browse through "High Schools/Henry Clay" course categories,
- Click on the "Henry Clay University Mall,"
- You'll be prompted for an enrollment key - It's umhchs08,
- Once enrolled, you can participate in any active university forum – ask questions, etc. A forum is considered active if the admissions contact has posted at least once in it (they're listed at the top)
